Drive Carefully Near Schools

With the end of the school year upon us, the Bishop Unified School District and the City of Bishop remind drivers and students to be especially careful near schools. Drivers and pedestrians should be careful all the time, but right now the many end-of-the-school-year events make being careful near the schools especially important.

Bishop students are excited about summer vacation and maybe getting an early start on a care-free attitude. At the same time parents and students have many activities and events during and after the normal school day leading up to the end of the school year. Getting to and from school, the events, work, and other commitments can make drivers want to rush, even near the schools.

Excited, care-free students and rushing drivers can be a bad mix. To avoid this mix, parents should remind their walking students to be careful. Drivers should slow down and be especially careful near the schools. This is not a good time to drive even close to as fast as the speed limit.

The Bishop Unified School District and the City of Bishop remind drivers and pedestrians to be careful at the end of the school year. The start of summer is no time for the tragedy of a school zone accident.
