Public Works News Release

Time to Irrigate (but not too much)

Spring is here, temperatures are up, days are longer, and gardens and lawns are starting to grow. Moisture from winter rains is drying up and its time to starting watering – but not too much!

Don't drown your lawn and plants in the spring with as much water as they will need in the heat of summer. This time of year plants don't need much water but our watering habits and our automatic controllers might not remember and may water like it's 100 degrees. The extra water won't do the plants any good but it will still cost plenty to pump and deliver that water. The cost of that wasted water makes it hard to keep fees low.

Water is precious and expensive to provide. Don't waste water. Contact the City of Bishop Public Works at 873-8458 for more information on water conservation and the City's water system.
