Get Into Water and Sewer

Do you wonder why water and sewer rates are so high? Do you wonder where the water goes when it goes down the drain? Do you want to find a way to serve your community? Find answers to these and other questions by serving on the City of Bishop Water and Sewer Commission. There just happens to be a vacancy!

The Bishop Water and Sewer Commission is made up of Bishop citizens who meet every other month and act in an advisory capacity to the Bishop City Council and staff on water and sewer issues. Although knowledge of water and sewer systems is sometimes useful, it is not required. All that is required is an interest in getting involved in making city services better.

Both the water and sewer budgets are about $1 million each year. The Commission gets involved in issues related to service, rates, improvements, customer concerns, and a lot of other things. When you think about it, water and sewer service impacts just about everything in everyday city life. Serving on the Water and Sewer Commission is an opportunity to be involved in these things in a positive way.

There is an unexpected vacancy on the Water and Sewer Commission. If you are interested in serving on the commission, applications are due Friday, 2 May 2014. More information is at www.ca-bishop.us.
